

letting go . . .

Kristy,
I'm really glad you moved here last year. Your a really sweet person who is very easy to talk to. Glad everything is straightened out between us. Well have to get together and do something crazy sometime soon.

Friends always,
Tonya H.

Kristy,
I'm glad I got to know you, but I still can't under stand why I stare at you. I guess it because there's nothin better to do. Maybe I can get to know you better.

friends forever

Kristy,
I'm not sure why
I don't like you but I don't want to be your friend anymore
this year because you are not funny at all.

Kristy ~ To a real sweet girl, who I met just this year, who I don't know all too well. But what the heck, huh? Well, good luck w/ guys, life, and all that other jazz.

Expressing Emotions

Not wanting to let go of their childish behavior Lynn Alvesteffer and Char Wilson ham it up briefly and revert to younger days.

Letting go . . .

and moving forward sometimes means remembering what you left behind. Leaving their junior high closeness, the Freshmen are now entering a new and bigger challenge. As eighth graders they were the leaders — now return to being low men on the totem pole. Sophomores start thinking about driver's license and the freedom of having a car brings. Juniors start settling down, they sell magazines and have a work day to prepare for the Junior-Senior Prom expenses. Letting go of elementary schools they went to for the first part of their lives, entering jr. high, then high school and finally moving on. For some letting go of their family and friends; the Seniors move on . . .

Getting together, sitting on the floor, conversing are just some of the many pleasures of attending school. Pam Peek, Heather Burchfield, and Cheryl Markiewicz sit down and chat and laugh together as they take a break while decorating the halls during homecoming week.

The teachers get involved during homecoming week; either organizing activities or participating as Mrs. Hartman's attire shows us.

Nerd looks are on the agenda for the day. Brooks West in his horn rimmed glasses and spiffy straw hat is playing the role to the hilt.

Sometimes all the pressures of attending school day in and day out, hour after hour catches up with you. Eli Jackson takes a well earned break from his rigorous schedule.

Letting go means someone sometimes has to clean up and Cheryl Markiewicz certainly knows how to push a broom well.

Is being spaced out the same as letting go? Jerry Richards dons a space hat as he prepares to audition for his lip sync number.

Strumming an imaginary guitar, Kirby Rice strikes a pose. Peter Medelez just continues on with his work.

Having a good time . . .

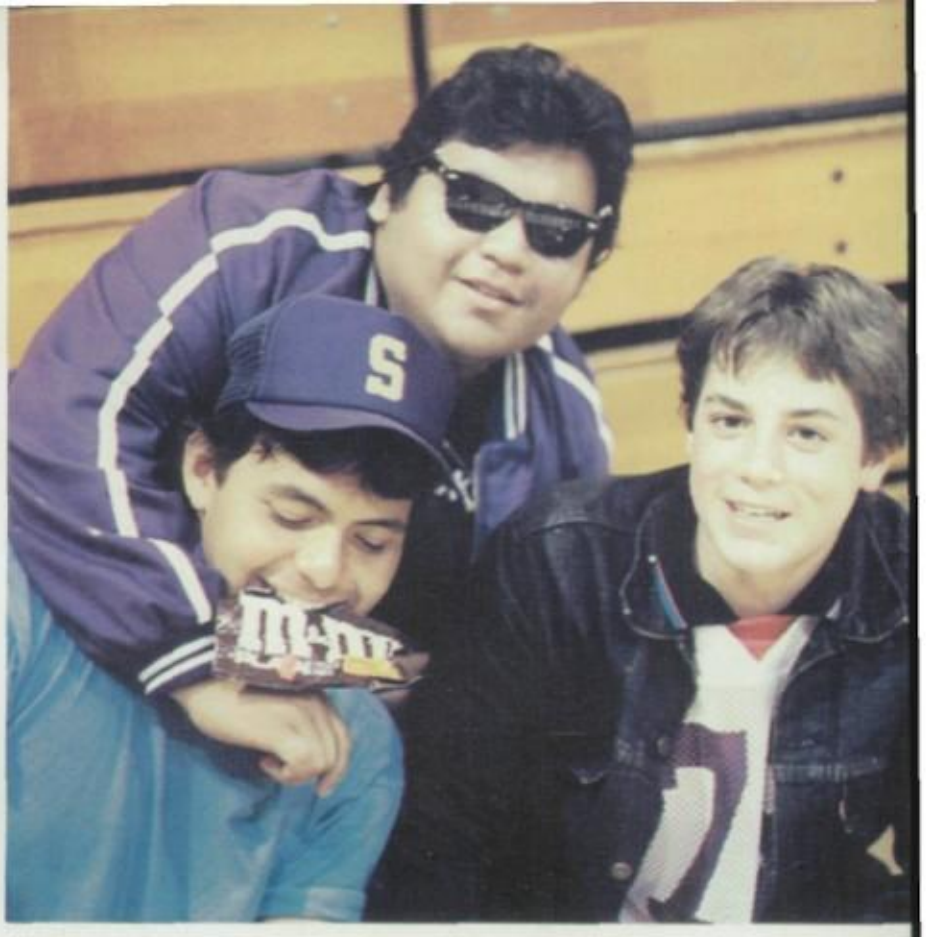
Dawn Beckman better not "let go" or she'll be in for a suprise.

Poking fun at yourself and others is all part of the school scene, as Mike Fessenden and Gene Richards attest.

Ernie Flores and Scott Fleming will not forget soon the infamous kiss from the Globe travelers that were here for an evening fund raiser. This scene is from the morning assembly for the student body.

Turn-around day proved to be lots of fun. The two lovelies, in the front turned around are Louis Cantu and Ernie Flores. Others wearing opposite clothes are Lori Miller, Ruth Coulier, Gary Burmeister, Teresa Best, Tim Westman, Erik Thies, Margaret Wahl, Gabriele Rieman, Kathy Smith, Lynn Alvesteffer, Julie Clark, Tim Parker and Michelle Fodrocy.

Shivering, cheerleaders: Kristie Parker, Heather Burchfield, Julie Clark, Ami Fethke, and Stacey Near attempt to keep warm on the sidelines of the football field. Their fleece-lined jackets just don't always do the job.



Choking Danny Ramirez, Arnold Medelez attempts to steal his M&M's while Paul Fessenden patiently looks on uninvolved.

"You be my pal and I'll be yours!!" Char Wilson and Kathy Smith are friends for keeps.

Exchange student Gabriele Reiman is showing us her school spirit by dressing up for purple and white day even to the extent of dying her hair a soft purple tone.

student life . . .

The morning's dress up day was cinchy. All you had to do was roll out of bed, put your slippers on and catch the bus. All showing off their cute slippers and pajama's were (L to R): Ami Fethke, Ernie Flores, Cheryl Markiewicz, Heather Burchfield, Lynn Alvesteffer, Kisty Rynbrandt, Teresa Best, and Patty Wyns.

Spirit Week of '87 . . .

Showing school spirit by sporting their purple and white attire are Jim Fekken, Lynn Alvesteffer, and Sherri Satterlee. It is becoming popular to even paint your faces with school colors.

Tourist day found lots of cameras, sunglasses, and Hawaiian shirts. (L to R) 1st row: Marie Dennison, 2nd row: Candy Bourff, Heather Burchfield, Peter Bourff, Mr. Law, 3rd row: Ruth Coulier, Louis Cantu, 4th row: Gary Burmeister, Lynn Alvesteffer, Mike Dodge, Jennifer Dennert, Teresa Best, Wendy DeLaRosa are all dressed up in their finery.

On Turn-around day Mrs. Kilgren dressed as her favorite student, Shane Bullis, donning golden locks under her hat, untied tennis shoes and last by not least the infamous Cadillac medallion.

Spirit Week Agenda . . .

Monday — Dress up day or toga day for Seniors
Tuesday — Pajama day
Wednesday — Tourist day

Frills and Thrills

This year's Homecoming dance was sponsored by the French club with Ms. Gentel as chaperone. A special treat was the music by Sunny FM. The dance lasted until 11:00 p.m. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen by Mr. Iauch.

Representing the Senior class are candidates Dean Scheerer and Kelly Slocum.

Homecoming '87 will be a night to cherrish for Queen Heather Burchfield and King Mark Kempker.

Also representing the Senior class are Mike Jackson and Trina Vela.

Everyone looks on as the Homecoming Court officially begins the homecoming dance with a special song set aside just for them.

The entire court and students well representing their classes are: Sophomores Leti Longoria and Dan Jackson; Exchange student, Gabriele Reimann and escort Erik Thies; Seniors Kelly Slocum and Dean Scheerer; Homecoming Queen Heather Burchfield and Homecoming King Mark Kempker; Seniors Trina Vela and Mike Jackson; Juniors Cori Brimmer and Gene Richards; Freshmen Bridget McGovern and Scott Cargill.

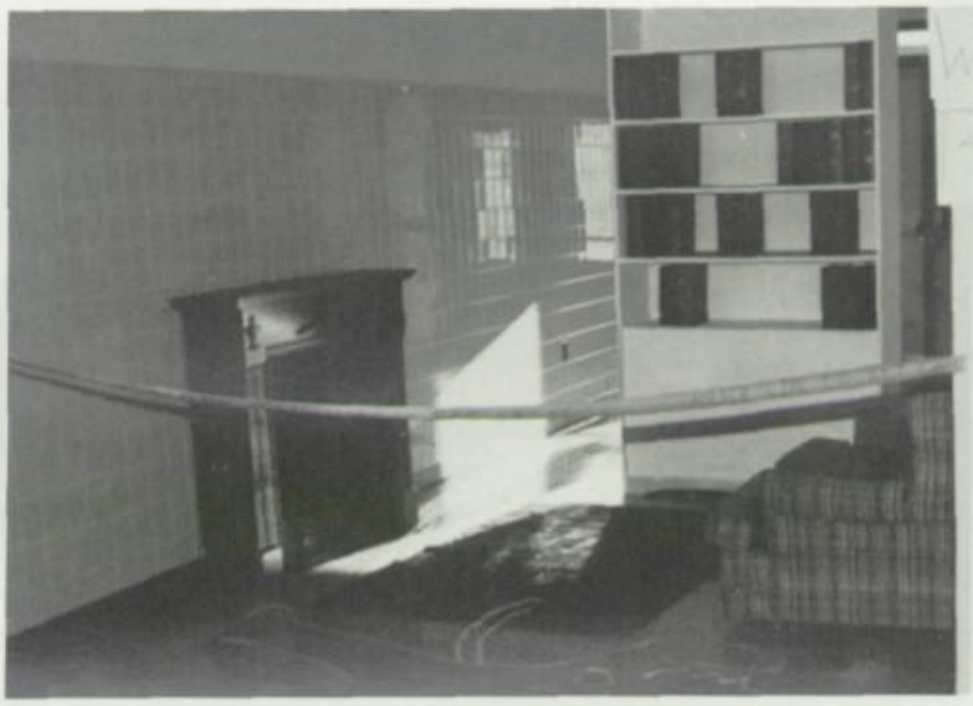
Enjoying the occassion and sharing a dance are the many students that crowded the floor. It was a successful event.

Games we play

The Senior's favorite game to play is Monopoly. Their design took 1st. place in the hall decorating contest.

Sweetness alias Candyland is the name of the game that the Juniors chose to work their theme around.

The most popular game show on T.V. is the Wheel of Fortune featuring Pat Sajak and Vanna White. The Freshmen had the wheel, but we didn't see Vanna!

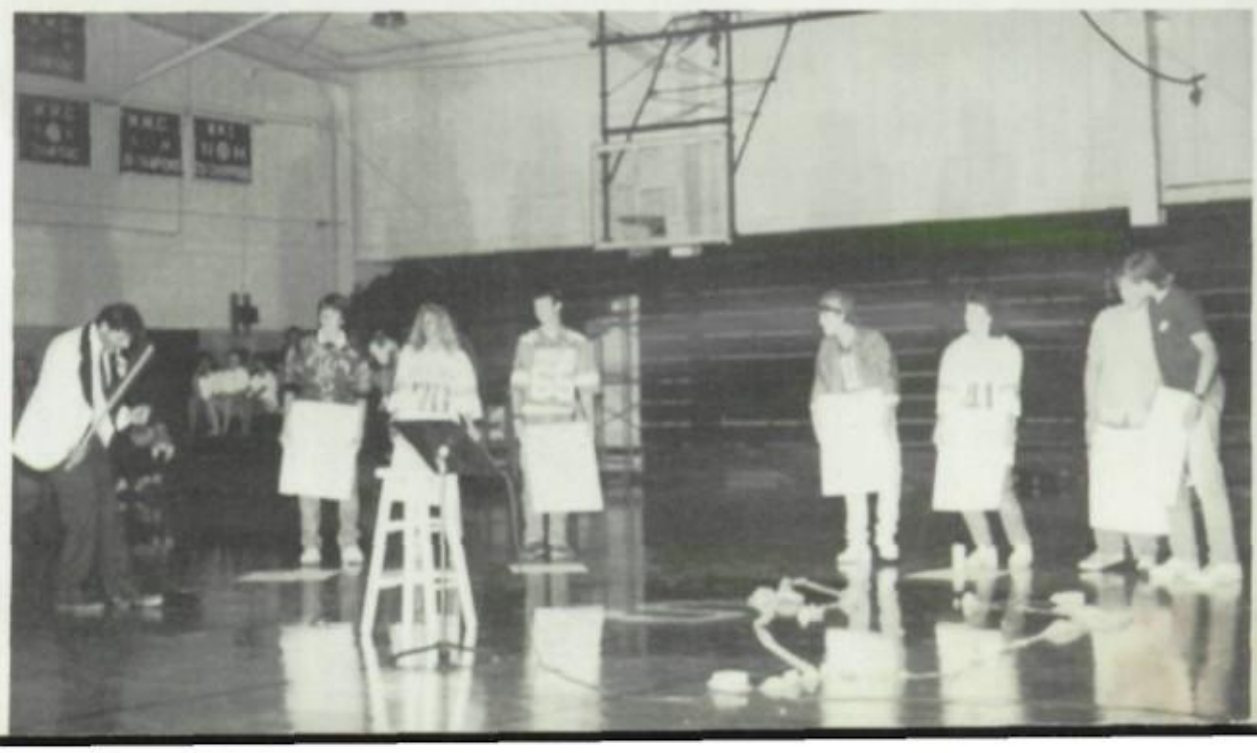


Mystery is what the Sophomores like. In their game of Clue, they provided us with a clever mystery to solve.

Lip Sync '87

Under the superb leadership of Mr. MacDougall with only three weeks of school underway, the lip sync went without a hitch. For the past few years the entire student body has spent a relaxing afternoon in the gym listening to the lip syncs. This year nine groups performed for us, included was one teacher group syncing "Walk Like an Egyptian."

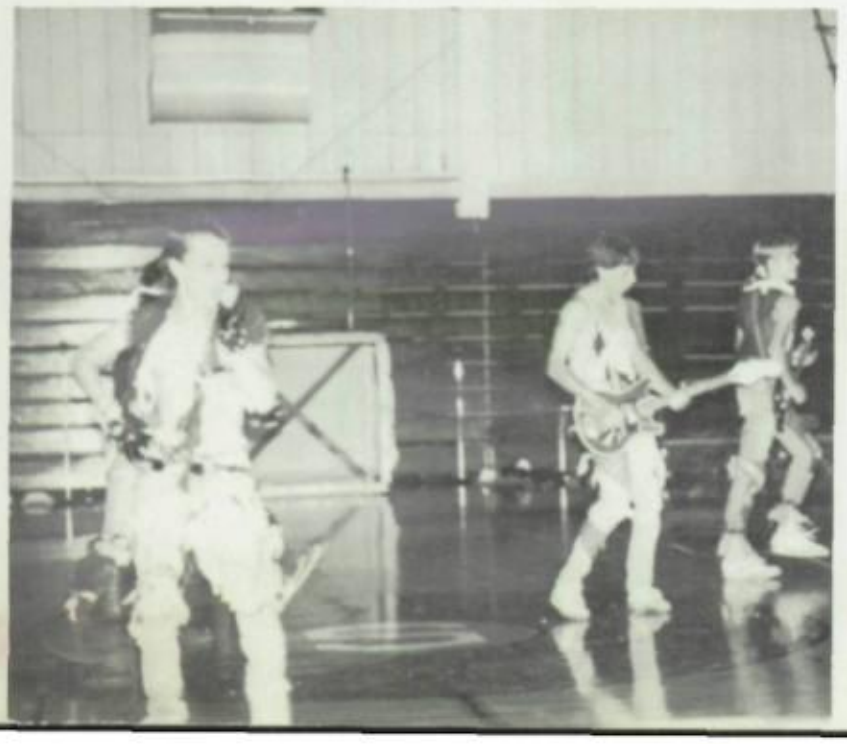
The directing ability of Mr. MacDougall began at the lip sync. Mark Anderson, Kisty Rynbrandt, Alan Lound, Eddie Felt, Lynn Alvesteffer, Buzz Nichols, and Eric Schlukebir perform "ABC and 123," by Michael Jackson. The show then continued with many varied and unusual lip sync acts.



Puttin' on the hits

Juniors, Becky Longoria, Anna Minor, Cheryl Barecki, Jeanne Clark, and Cori Brimmer, represented their class well by taking first place at the lip sync contest. The song superbly performed was "Kiss Him Good-bye" by the Nylons.

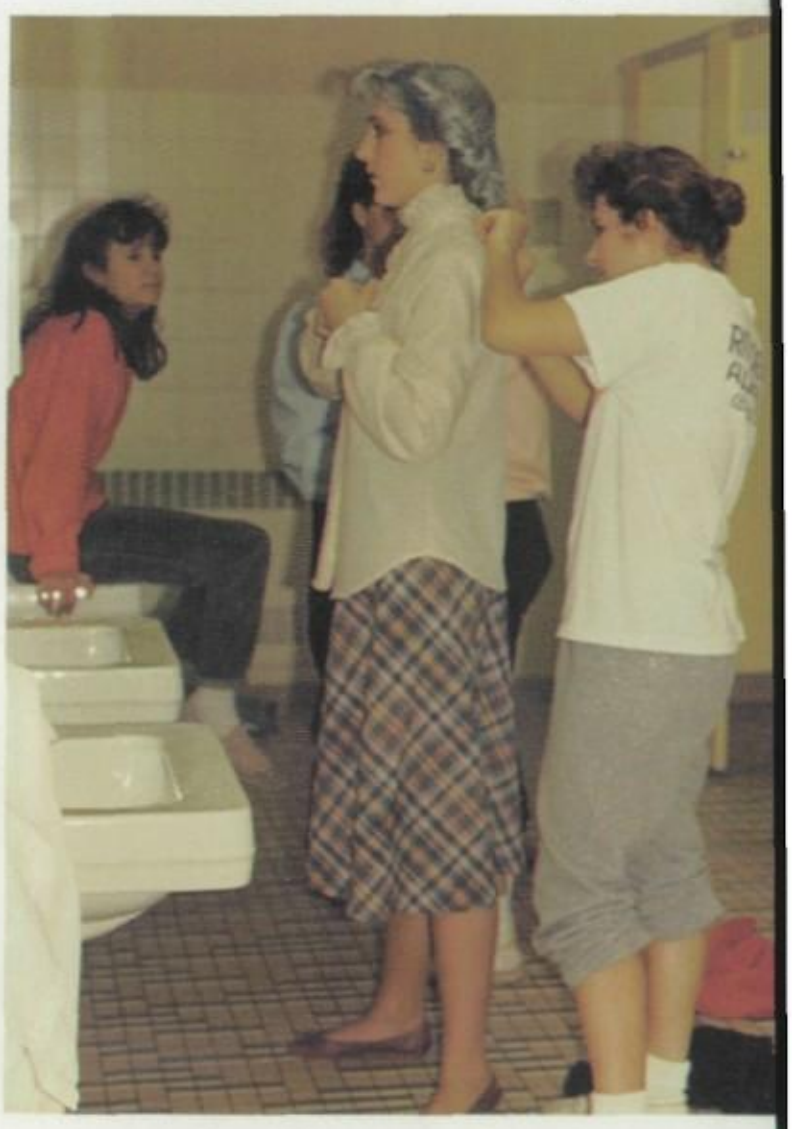
The Senior class was also well represented. Taking second place was Jim Fekken, Todd Hamilton, Robby Neuman, and Matt Merrill doing "Welcome to the Jungle" by Guns and Roses.



"I Heard it Through the Grapevine" by Marvin Gaye received third place for the Sophomores, Jill Fox, Kris Kelly, and Shannon Haas. The black light show was a nice change of pace.

Happenings on the Stage

Part of making the character in the play come alive is the art involved in make-up. Shannon Haas sits patiently while Ruperta Machado and Lisa Herrera work on her face.



Dressing rooms are at a premium when it comes play time. Kris Kelly is helping Cheryl Barecki with final preperations, as Jessica Hamilton looks on, in the girls restroom.

Intently Mr. MacDougall and Jill Fox listen to Shanon Haas as she explains a problem.

Brent Alexander as Horton, is re-enacting the most famous play of his lifetime, seen at least 20 times before by his girlfriend, Charlene, played by Dawn Beckman.

The Importance of Being Uncle Roscoe

A delightful, funny evening was what was in store for the audience of "The Importance of Being Uncle Roscoe." Particularly nice about this year's selection for the fall play was the message it had for the holiday season.

Unfortunalely for the breadwinner of the Kendall family, he lost his job during the holiday season. Then things begin to happen with the appearance of Uncle Roscoe, who just happens to be a con man and has his partner with him. Uncle Roscoe aptly played by Buzz Nichols becomes a gift to the entire family.

It has been a long and hard day, first National Honor Society Induction, then the final dress rehearsal, sometimes it's just more than a person can take. So Anna Minor takes a cat nap.

Assistant Manger, Jill Fox, put the lights on the Christmas tree that is part of the scenery.

Letting go in the snow . . .

Wasting no time during the first snow fall, Jim Fekken cannot contain the urge to throw a snowball.

Stuffing snow down the back of someone's coat gives a great deal of pleasure to some individuals. Mechaele Wilson becomes Marlin Rose's victim in the school parking lot.

Jody Sherwood chases Connie Jimison while playing in the snow, or are they really just running to class so they won't be late.

Bundling up on "bundle up" day was exactly what Scott Peterson did by wearing his plaid flannels.

Heather Burchfield tries to push Dion Russell into a snow bank, hopefully she succeeded.

They say you lose 85% of your body heat through the head, so Gary Burmeister makes sure he keeps his head warm during the snow fest celebration with an aviator hat.

Pat Schlehr tries to keep himself warm in study hall by bundling up.

Connie Jimison, Frank Guerra, Chris Tietz, Heather Burchfield, Bartt Felt, and Leti Longoria all play "King on the Mountain" during their yearbook class.

Renaissance means rebirth

The term Renaissance, describing the period of European history from the early 14th to the late 16th century, is derived from the French word rebirth. The week of Nov. 10th included many activities. Teachers and students from grades K-12 were invited to participate as much or as little as they wished. The focus was on the arts of the period. Art classes held an exhibit and there was also a Detroit Institute of Art Exhibition in the library which emphasized Renaissance art. Of special interest was Calvin Stapert of Calvin College demonstrating Renaissance musical instruments; including a recorder, krummhorn, and a shawn. Also available was an evening performance to the public featuring instrument demonstrations and consort music. Rented costumes of the period were worn during the school day and a few individuals ushered and served refreshments at the evening performance. This program was funded in part through MOORA.

Clothing of the Renaissance period was very elegant. These examples were rented especially to add another dimension to the Renaissance week long celebration. Shane Bullis, Robin Dodge, Malinda Routley, Gary Burmeister, Julie Clark, and Mike Dodge certainly do justice to them.

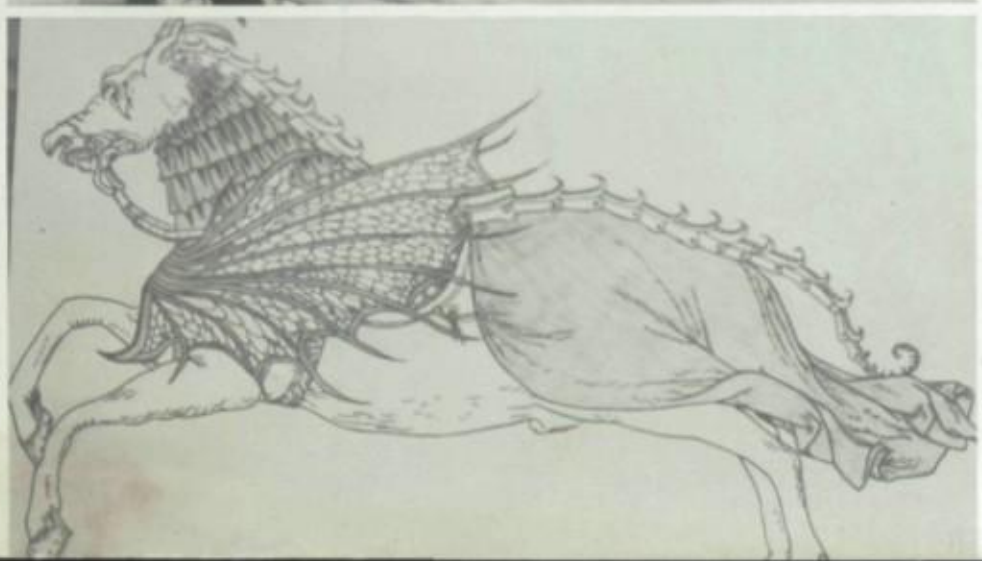
Calvin Stapert a professor from Calvin College, and an authority on the instruments from the period, discussed and played several instruments from the Renaissance period. They ranged from the recorder to a gemshorn.

Jason Smith, in costume, waits patiently to hand out the programs for the evening recital featuring Renaisance music and instruments.

Suzy Ladoux spent a great deal of time executing her picture.

During the recital intermission Gabriele Reimann and Jennifer McGhan serve punch.

Terri Price exhibits her talent upon completion of the magical Pegasus.



Spell Renaissance . . .

Brent Alexander, Becky Longoria, Vicki McLouth, Matt Becker, Anna Minor, Jeanne Clark, Laura Mastee, Jason Bobier, Stacy Near, Tim Hayes, Anna Scheerer, Gene Richards, Kristi Wagner, and David Seid look on attentively at the National Honor Society induction. This is the largest Junior group ever to be inducted into the organization.

The tie-breaking word for 2nd and 3rd place this year was renaissance. Tim Steenburgh correctly spelled it for 2nd place honors. The 1st place winner was Lynn Alvesteffer, who walked away with several worthwhile prizes. The 3rd place honor went to Nancy Heeg.

Lynn Alvesteffer won numerous gifts, as well as $50 in gift certificates and $100 cash. Tim Steenburgh received many gifts as well and $35 in gift certificates and $100 cash. As well as many nice prizes Nancy Heeg took home $30 in gift certificates and $85 in cash for her 3rd place finish.

The student body was a great audience as the top spellers fought it out for top place.

It was a worth while event and enjoyed by all.

This year's winners of the National Honor Society Spelling Bee are Nancy Heeg, 3rd place; Tim Steenburgh, 2nd place; and Lynn Alvesteffer, 1st place. The Spelling Bee has become an annual event and is run in front of the entire student body.

Top notch performers

The National Honor Society officers are: Cheryl Markiewicz, secretary; Tim Westman, treasurer; Chris Sullivan, vice president; Gordy Prather, president.

On December 9, from 6-7 p.m. the cafeteria was filled with parents, teachers, and friends to watch this year's National Honor Society Induction. The largest ever; 35 in all. There were 15 Seniors and 20 Juniors inducted at the candlelight ceremony. Adding the inductees to the current members of the National Honor Society, there is a grand total of 42 members.

A high grade point average as well as good citizenship, and service are the qualifications needed to be selected into the National Honor Society.

The National Honor Society was first introduced to Shelby High School in the 1950's. There are 42 members this year, the largest membership ever.

The purpose of the National Honor Society is to honor outstanding students and act as a service organization. The National Honor Society does this by holding a Spelling bee for the entire student body to see. The students are in charge of Teacher Appreciation Day held in May. The students also have a slave auction, where each member is sold to someone for a day. Annually, as a reward to themselves, the students go on a picnic in the spring. And to be elected as a National Honor Society officer is a special honor above and beyond being a member only.

Expressing their talents

Those Jungles Afar

Maddening
The very thought was maddening.
To remember out there in the jungles afar,
the droning jets
exploding bombs
echoing gunfire.

To recall
all of the friends loved and known who never breathed again.
To remember the foreign flip of the tongue screaming the sound of death.
And to hear our own screaming yelling groaning, for hope.
Yet knowing it would never come.

Helpless.
We knew we were helpless,
as the cries echoed in our minds.
All we could do was think of home and family, wondering.

To cringe
with each ringing shot.

We live on.
But we'll never forget
those jungles afar,
and the meanings
and the part of us
hidden within them.

Kris Kelly represented Shelby in the Literary Arts category for Showcase with her poem "Those Jungles Afar". It was an assignment for Mr. Lehman's English class.

Shelby High School has been involved in Showcase since the first production when it was called Fame. The purpose of Showcase is to present to the public the outstanding young people in West Michigan. Sometimes the price these young people have to pay to achieve excellence involves many hours and much hard work. This year Shelby had 6 students involved in showcase. They were Tim Westman in Performing Arts, Mike Dodge in Visual Arts, Kris Kelly in Literary Arts, Gordy Prather in Academics, and Mel Flores and Aaron Gowell for Girl and Boy Athletes.

Tim Westman represented Shelby in the Performaning Arts category. Tim played a xylophone solo that highlighted this very talented young man exceptionally well.

Mike Dodge explains to his fellow classmate, Shane Bullis, some of the finer points in executing his work of art.

Mike has been Shelby's representative in the Visual Arts category for the past 2 years. Last year with a picture of Madonna and this year with the self-portrait. The collage he is doing now is for his final project in Mrs. Kilgren's Advanced art class.

An honor to remember

The weather cooperated with us so we marched at every home game this year. Something that hasn't been done in several years.

This year the band had 3 competition dates. District festival was held at Cadillac this year where the band earned a division I rating. The marching band traveled to Otsego to perform in an open-competion. There we took 3rd place with Grandville taking 1st and Jenison taking 2nd. For the final competition we traveled to Jenison. There we took 2nd place in our flight.

The flagline spends several hours outside of regular rehersals to prepare for the marching band season.

Erik Thies in his senior year received an outstanding drum major award at the Jenison marching band competition.

The entire band is gathered around to hear the next instructions from Mr. Granger.

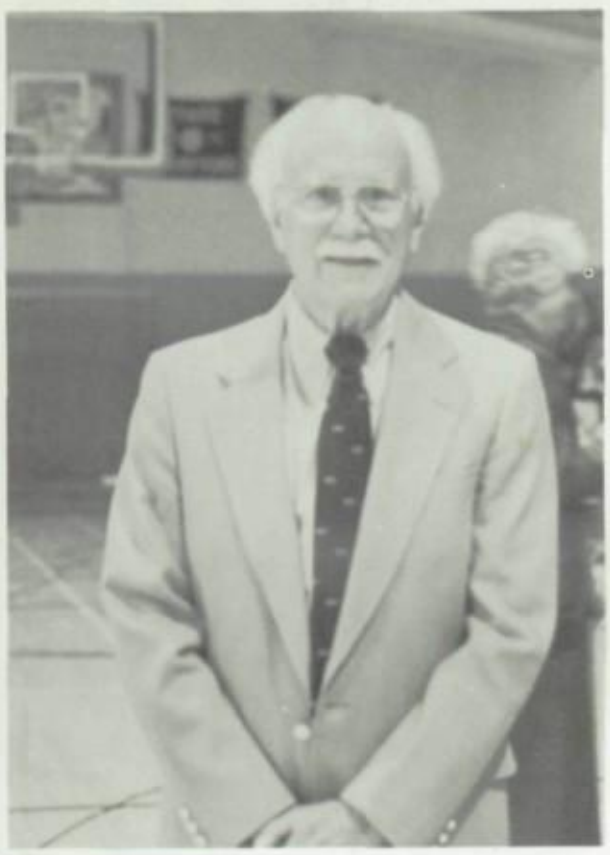
*PRINCIPAL



The students in the Shelby band were very honored at the presence of the composer H. Owen Reed. The band performed his composition of "Heart of the Morn."

The music we performed at the March 17th. concert and at Western Michigan University was:
Belle of Chicago by John Phillip Sousa
Westminster Bridge by Elliot A. DelBorgo
Reqium by Fisher Tull
Heart of the Morn by H. Owen Reed
Ginger Marmalade by Warren Benson
Daughters of Texas by John Phillip Sousa

The Shelby Symphony band had their first concert December 17th. A huge crowd showed up to hear the music during the Christmas season. The Symphony band was invited to perform at Western Michigan University. Our band and the Jenison band were the only two bands in the state asked to play in the Miller Auditorium for their excellent previous years performance.. The band spent many rehearsal hours preparing 6 pieces of music to equal a full hour concert. On March 19th. the band performed 3 of the pieces; The Daughters of Texas, Ginger Marmalade, and Requim, taking straight 1 ratings. To make the experience at Kalamazoo more enjoyable the band decided to stay overnight. To do this they had a sub sale in December to raise the money. The sales brought in $1800. The band left Shelby at 8:00 A.M., March 25th. They arrived in Kalamazoo in time for dinner, which turned out to be subs provided by the band boosters. The concert was performed at 1:00 P.M. at the Miller Auditorium for many band students and directors. The guest composer was Fisher Tull, whose piece of music performed was Requim. This composition was written for a band in Clear Creek, Texas in memory for 4 band students killed in a car accident. The band was honored to see their 2nd. composer in a year. We then stayed and listened to the Jenison performance. The band was taken to Sheraton Inn where we would stay for the night. Then the band boosters provided supper at the Sweeden House. We then returned to Western Michigan University for the final concerts which were the Western Michigan Symphony band and the Fisher Tull honor's band. We then returned to the Sheraton Inn for swimming and relaxation for a job well done. The band ended the season with a final concert a May.

The concert band had a formal picture taken after the Christmas concert.

Mary Lewellan is principal harpist with the West Shore Symphony of Muskegon. Mrs. Lewellan helped us in the performance of "Heart of the Morn." Her performance was made possible through the generosity of Shelby Manufacturing Inc..

Designers of ideas

The oldest yearbook we found was 1930. The Shelby Tigerite has been produced off and on for the past 58 years offering a lot of memories. This year there are 12 members on the Tigerite staff. The work that students put forth in this class is very important. At the begining of the year, all the students are involved in ad sales to help cover the cost of producing the yearbook, to make it less expensive for you. Then the students work very hard on copy and layouts to meet each deadline that is set for them by the company.

An improvement that has helped make the past two year's yearbooks better is a structured class. This makes for more time to publish a yearbook that captures the memories and history of that year, and that is often used as a reference guide years from now.

The highlight of yearbook class is passing out the yearbooks in the fall, listening to the comments, and feeling that you've accomplished a great deal.

Julie Clark and Connie Jimison are working together, deciding on what pictures to use. They were the senior section editors and responsible for senior section.

Jazzin' up the game

Ron Stebelton, Keith Kludy, Mike McGovern, Mark Anderson, Becky Longoria, and Jill Fox spend alot of volunteer time on Tuesday and Friday nights. They add a great deal to the spirit of the games.

Jill Fox and Aimee Wells sound their horns in celebration of a point scored during the game.

Aaron Boardwell concentrates as he beats the bass drum.

There are 34 members in Pep band this year. They fire-up the crowd and support the basketball team.

These are members from the Shelby band program. They volunteer part of their lunch-time for rehearsals on a regular basis.

The students stand in the bleachers during pep assemblies and home games making things come alive.

Safety and driving

The SADD (students against driving drunk) club was organized in 1985 by Mr. David Law. Mrs. Karen Kirk has since helped co-sponsor this club.

The purpose of SADD is to make the students aware of the problems of "drinking and driving" and to encourage them not to drive while under the influence of alcohol.

The organization uses posters and other visuals to make their cause known. Before the holidays a red ribbon was tied to the antennas of cars as a subtle reminder not to drink and drive.

The highlight of this year is a Las Vegas night, being held as a post-prom party.

Parents during parent-teacher conference's in March had an opportunity to see an interesting video on driving drunk that was sponsored by the SADD organization. It was set up and ongoing in a high school corridor and while parents waited to visit with teachers, they could watch it. SADD students, Pam Peek, Lynn Alvesteffer and Sherri Satterlee are in the library also viewing this tape.

SADD officers are: Chris Sullivan; treasurer, Sherri Satterlee; secretary, Brent Alexander; vice-president, Tim Westman; president.

Something entirely new

As a fund raiser for the Spanish club, Cheryl Markiewicz gives Brad Postema a hug. The Hug-o-grams were sold in the cafe lobby for Valentine's Day.

Spanish club officers are: Diana Luevano, secretary and treasurer; Louis Cantu, vice-president; and Nancy Heeg, president.

The Spanish club is new to the school this year. The sponsor for the Spanish club is Mrs. Mary Hawley. The organization has 25 members who are interested in improving their Spanish and learning about their culture.

To earn money this year the Spanish club sold Hug-O-Grams before Valentine's Day. The money from this was used to go on a trip to Little Mexico in Grand Rapids.

Modeling metals

The industrial arts officers are: Jamie Beckman, treasurer; Jeff Furman, vice-president; and Keith Rynbrandt, president. Not pictured Teresa Best, secretary.

Several high school and junior high students spent Monday nights and many hours after school working on their projects. The projects were being completed to enter in regional and state competition. This year the regional competition was held at Muskegon Community College and the state competition was held in Traverse City. At regional competition 11 students took 1st place with 2 earning grands. At state competition 4 people took 1st place and Garret Waller took a grand award. It was the first year Shelby has ever had 2 grand awards at the state level. This is an accomplishment in itself as there are only a few grand awards given. Approximately 16,000 projects are entered at the regional level and about 4,000 in the state contest.

Todd DeVries is checking to make sure that all the information he needed is filled out on his entry form.

Fun in the snow

During noon time Mr. MacDougall sits down by the cafe lobby and takes names and money from students going on the weekly trip to Crystal Mountain. Today it appears Jerry Richards and Lance Dusseau are signing up.

Let it snow

The Ski club was started in 1976 by Mr. Clif Helms, a former superintendent and teacher at Shelby. The purpose of this organization is to enhance physical fitness by providing students with an opportunity to take part in a life long sport. But for the 41 members it seems more like fun. The highlights of the year's activities is the weekly trips to Crystal Mountain and the Spring Ski-fest. Spring-fest is an afternoon and evening of skiing as well as dinner held on March llth. at Crystal Mountain. The students also started a ski instructor program this year. The instructors went along on Friday nights with the Junior High ski club and helped teach them to ski.

Ski club officers are: Alan Lound, treasurer; Rob Neuman, president ; Mike VanDuinen, secretary; Anne Lulich, vice-president.

Selling is our business

Bev Brooks spent many lunch periods behind the counter of the DECA club mini-store.

The DECA club officers are: Chris Tietz, secretary and treasurer, Rob Porter, vice-president, Bev Brooks, president.

The DECA (Distributive Ed. Club of America) club was started by Mr. Rick Zoulek in November of this school year. They have 12 members this year. The purpose of the DECA club is to expose students to the practical business operations and make them aware of the opportunities that exist in business. One way of doing this was the operation of a mini-school store. Here you could buy school pencils and pens, key rings, and a raffle ticket for a mini-tv. Which by the way was won by Mel Flores. The organization gives special awards and recognition for special contests and state events. The club is new so they are still working to build up membership to attend more events. The DECA club is a state and national organization as well as local, so dues to join are required of students.

Planning for the future

The French club was started in 1974 by Ms. Gentel. Students in French class and from previous years are allowed to join. The students work toward a trip to Quebec every 3 years. The trip included a bus trip to Detroit and a train ride on to Quebec. They stay for approximately five days. It provides a wonderful opportunity for the students to utilize the skills they acquired in French class. To do this the students sell advent calendars, sponsor the Homecoming Dance, and they held a raffle for a portable radio and other money making ventures.

Heather Oberlin sells Connie Jahnke an advent calendar. It consists of a winter scene and a piece of chocolate under a different window for each day from December 1 until Christmas day.

Hurray for SHS tigers

Pep club officers are: Cori Brimmer, secretary; Tim Parker, treasurer; Mike Dodge, vice-president; Gary Burmeister, president.

Members of the Winter Fest court are Freshmen Scott Cargill and Alyssa Plummer, Juniors King and Queen Mike McGovern and Anna Minor, Seniors Dean Scheerer and Sherri Satterlee, Sophomores Bartt Felt and Stephanie Burington.

The Pep Club was restarted in 1984. The students felt a need for an organization that would encourage pride in the school. The purpose of the organization is to honor all athletes in the school by having an honorary luncheon for the in the cafetorium at the conclusion of their season. And to show support for them throughout the season. This year as an added new feature to the school system they sponsored a Snowfest. They had a fun filled week of spirited days, and a coin drop to determine a winner for Snowfest King and Queen.

Who done it?

Mike McGovern played the part of the first murdered person (Rudi Scherz), and then carried on back stage as the student director.

A Murder is Announced

What they thought to be a practical joke, wasn't!

In the morning edition of The Chipping Cleghorn Gazette, they announced what they thought was a harmless prank — that someone would be murdered at the residents of Little Paddocks, Miss Blacklock's home; None-the-less it happened as it was said. Rudi Scherz (Mike McGovern) was murdered. Inspector Craddock (Brent Alexander) from Scotland Yards was investigating the murder. In trying to discover who the murderer was another person dies Dora Bunner (Margaret Wahl) from a poisonous cake.

It took time to find out who "done" it, but Inspector Craddock does! "Who done it?" It was Letitia Blacklord (Kris Kelly), or was it? Actually it was Letitia Blacklock's twin sister forging the part of Letitia, to gain Letitia's money.

Char Nichols (Phillipa Haymes) looks astonished! She had no idea that the murderer was Mrs. Blacklock.

Even at the frail age she is, Dora Bunner (Margaret Wahl) still has the wind to blow out another birthday candle on her cake. Anna Minor and Leslie Best look on to see if she can do it.

The cast for the play were: Char Nichols, Leslie Best, Cheryl Barecki, Anna Minor, Mr. MacDougall, director, Kris Kelly, Jill Fox, Mike McGovern, and Lisa Ludwig. Not pictured are Margaret Wahl, Mark Anderson, Buzz Nichols, Brent Alexander, and Tim Hayes.

Preparing the entertainment

They were first called Masque and Bauble, then changed their name to the Thespians. The purpose of the organization is to assist in the production of the Shelby High School plays, and to foster an understanding and love for the theatre in students as well as in the community. This year the plays were: "The Importance of Being Uncle Roscoe", the fall play; and "A Murder is Announced", the spring play.

At the end of the year at the awards assembly, the Thespians give to those members who have made extraordinary contributions to the Thespian Society and the Shelby theatre an award.

The new inductees to the Thespian Society were: Leslie Best, Dawn Beckman, Char Nichols, Shannon Haas, Cindy Dodge, Erin McGovern, Lisa Ludwig, Julie Clark, Tim Hayes, Amy Plaunt, and Laura Mastee.

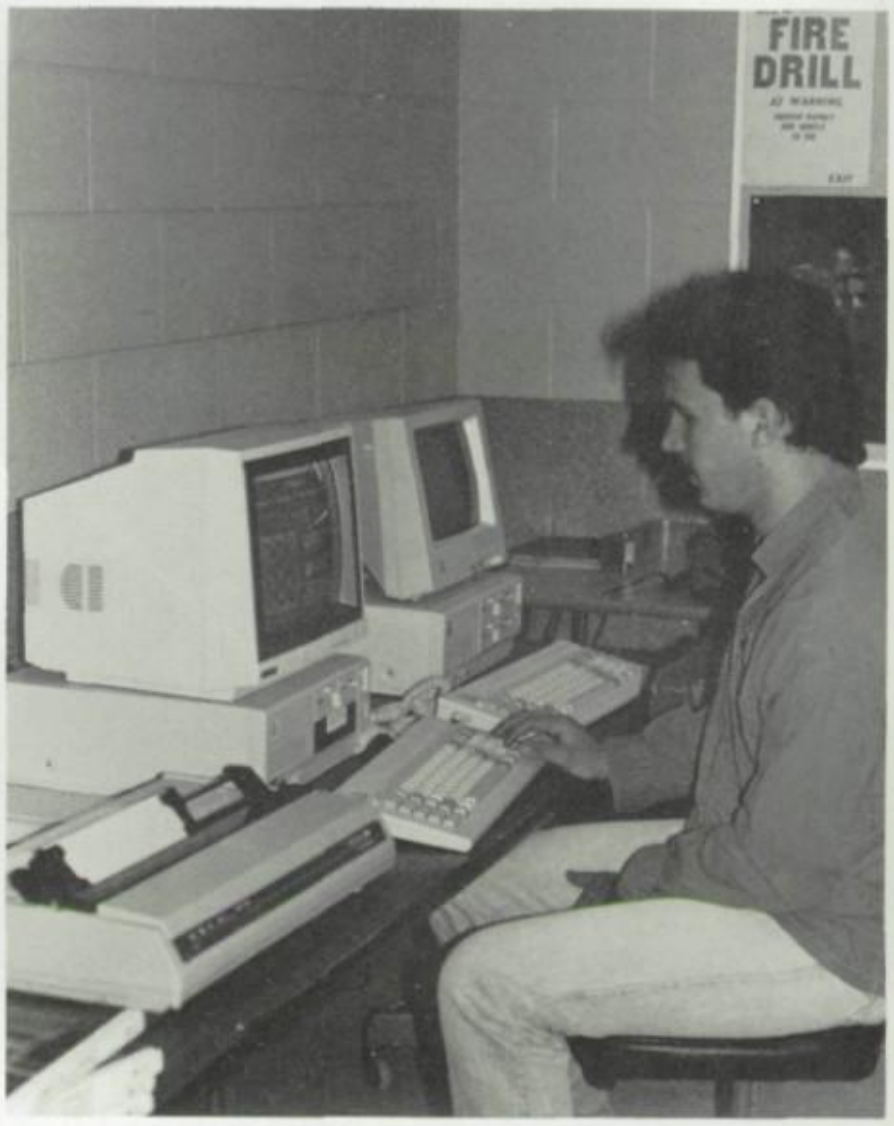
The challenge of sciences

Cori Brimmer and Becky Longoria work with the microscope for their chemistry lab project.



Tim Westman takes a final look at the computer program which took 3rd place at the Science Olympiad.

The Science Olympiad was started in 1985 by Mr. Bruce Brimmer. The team is only allowed 15 members for competition. The organization is to further enhance the studies of science. The organization competes for regional and state competition at Grand Valley State University. Taking 8th place in computer programming was Tim Westman and Ron Stebelton. Taking 5th place in the Pentathlon was Cori Brimmer, Becky Longoria, Todd Fox, and Brent Alexander. Then in Metric estimation was Tim Westman taking 3rd place.

Biggest of them all

The students meet in Mr. George's room to generate interest in math at a state level, to challenge and recognize the highest math students and to compete against other schools in a statewide competition. The once a month test is handed out by Mr. George during noon hour. Currently our Math League is 15th in the state out of 83 that compete in the league.

Justin Spence, Mike Johnson, Jamie Kay, Mark Highland, Terri Steenbergh, Nancy Heeg, and Leslie Best are part of the student's who took the Math League test at noon.

The English department has grown and is constantly growing. The English teachers all expect to enable students to better use the language. The students would then benefit themselves and learn communication through writing, speaking and reading. The English teachers all have their special way of teaching in order to help students. (Some teachers explore different areas to improve their teaching as well as improving the students.)

Mrs. Hartman's fourth hour Sophomore English consisting of Tim Aebig, Jamie Beckman, Leti Longoria, Chad Grinwis, Steve Bennett, Bartt Felt, and Melisa Stoudt are quite a friendly class. One main objective of the class is to get to know yourself and like yourself.

In Freshman English Scott Peterson, Bree Darling, Bridget McGovern, and Robin Zoulek work on self-confidence.

Mrs. James's College English class with Todd Fox, Louis Cantu, Cheryl Markiewicz, Aaron Gowell, Kisty Rynbrandt and Eric Thies socialize before class begins. In College English the students become better writers, thinkers and through literature better people.

Mr. John Mooy spoke to the English students and tried to give them some direction on the correct way to write. Mr. Mooy is a sculptor and writer of children's literature. He travels a lot and enjoys speaking to students.

Marlin Rose wrote a character sketch on L.L. Cool J. and visualized it with a pumpkin. He then made a presentation to a psychology class utilizing L.L. Cool J.

Terry Steenbergh wrote a character sketch about Raggady Ann and presented it to the psychology class also.

Shannon Haas and Jerry Richards (above) do a scene from a play for Introduction to Acting. Jerry and Venessa Lopez (right) do a different scene from the same play.

Hola, Bon

Learning styles vary when it comes to listening to conjugation as this French II class attest to.

Ms. Jos Gentel has been a foreign language teacher at Shelby High for sixteen years. She came from Holland to the U.S. in 1957 at the age of seven. Ms. Gentel remembers, "Other students used to tease me because I was "different," but I managed to learn English in less than three months." She grew up in Maryland and then came to Michigan to get her college education at Hope College. When asked what her most important things in her life are, she replied, "My children, Lisi 8, and Geoffrey 5. They have taught me more about living and love than anything else."

Ms. Gentel's classes consist of 1st and 2nd year French and Spanish. It is possible for a student to take up to four years of a language class. Generally 3rd and 4th year are independent study or advanced classes and there are only a handful of students. Special projects for the advanced students include student teaching, art unit, newspaper and journals in the language they are studying.

Every three years, the French classes go to Quebec, Canada. Going to Quebec provides a unique opportunity for the students to "try out" their French. They are always so proud when they can actually converse with the Quebecois.

Language classes use a great variety of materials in class. Action-packed adventure stories that the students listen to over the headsets and later act out, are always fun.

The main goal for students is to make themselves more "globally" aware and to expand their horizons.

After a language trip to East Kentwood High School, students stopped at Chi-Chi's for lunch. Here, Bobby Cantu stops eating for a pose while enjoying his lunch.

Preparing for class are Kelly Bennitt, Sarah Peterson, Leti Longoria, Kathy Keehne, and Beth Hasty. The headphones come down and lessons begin.

Gary Burmeister lends a helping hand to one of his 5th grade students during one of his student teaching classes at the elementary.

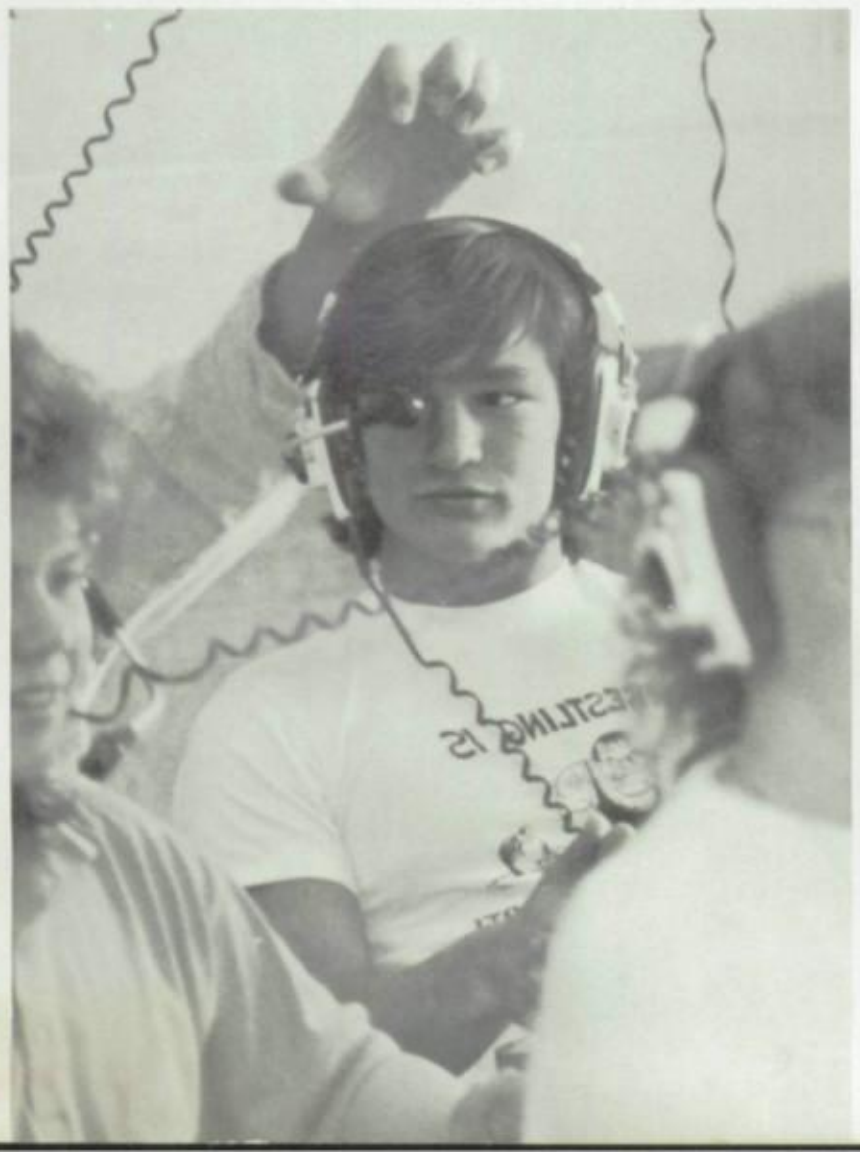
jour, Hello!

Listening closely with the headphones, Margaret Wahl participates in French I class.

Student teacher, Peter Medelez, plays "Simon Says" with his 4th. grade students to teach them body parts in spanish.

One of Ms. Gentel's smallest class is 5th hour Spanish II. The class consists of seven students, Randy Rodriguez, Venessa Lopez, Diana Luevano, and Laura Ramirez. Not pictured are Nancy Heeg, Belinda Lopez and Augustin Valenzuela.

Dan Jackson has his headphones on, unaware that Brandon Nelson's hand creeps up from behind.



Spanish I class enjoys a change of pace day in Ms. Gentel's class by playing language games in small groups.

Challenges for the mind

Physical education is designed to fulfill the one year requirement for graduation. It is constructed to promote physical fitness as well as to provide a knowledge of activities which may be used for personal enjoyment outside of school and in the future. Self-discipline is taught through a variety of sports, games, conditioning, and weight lifting. Students taking this class must participate daily and are required to dress properly and shower. Attendance and participation are the keys to passing this course.

Two new activities this year are aerobics and weight training. Aerobics consists of conditioning, examining, and performing many of the current aerobic programs such as tapes from Jane Fonda, Army/Airforce workouts, and Hooked on Aerobics. Weight training is a program to build muscles. This is done by several exercises, squats, dead lifts, bench pressing, etc. . . .

Physical education is a learning experience as well as a fun class. It stresses activity and motor skills. Instead of sitting at a desk all day, students are moving around and having fun, but getting an education.

To avoid pulling a muscle Amy Wendell, Adam Schultz, and Peter Medelez stretch out preparing for their aerobic work out.

During free time in aerobics Rodney Lewis works out on the rope.

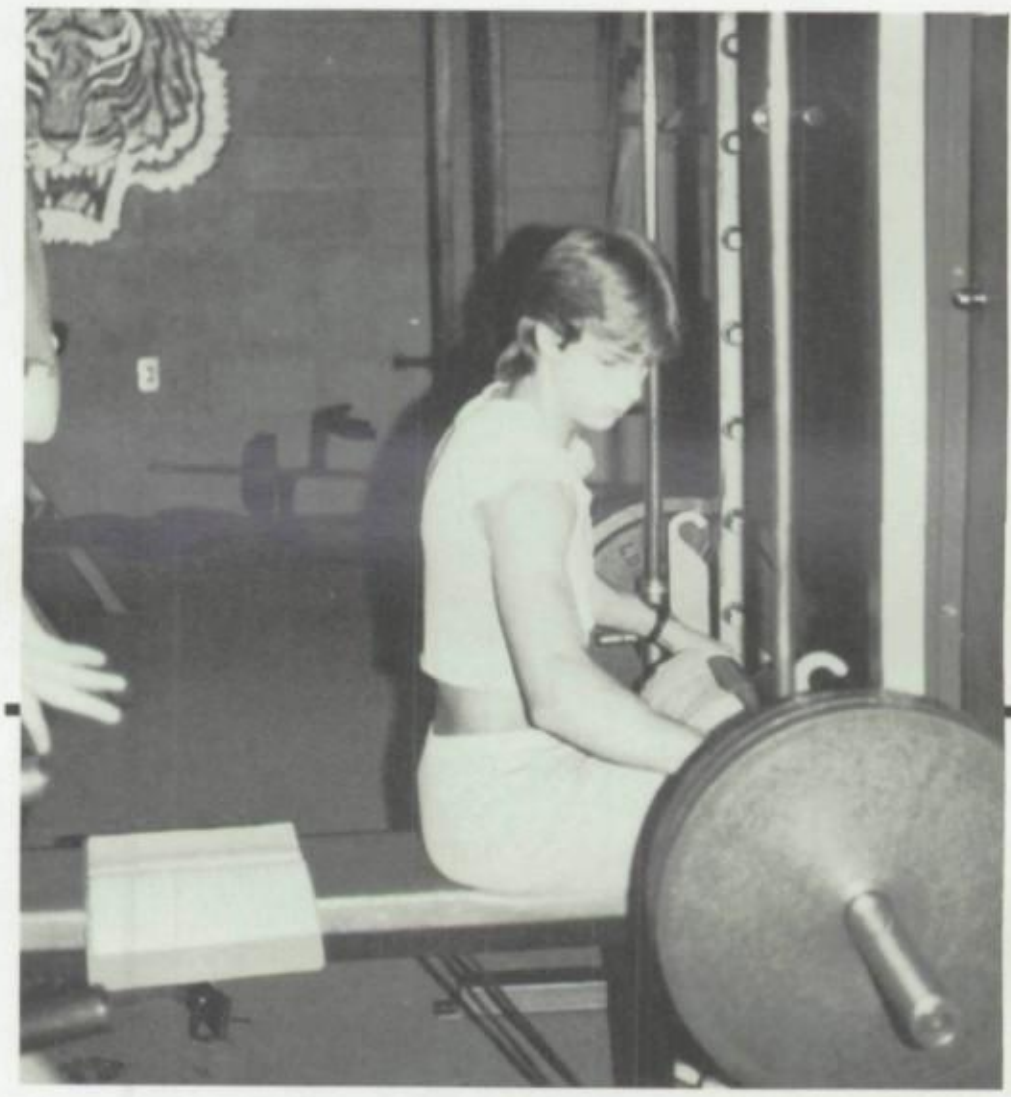
This 1987-88 school year has seen some changes in the Health, otherwise known as Family Life class. THe teachers have begun to implement the Michigan Model Health program during the second semester. Mrs. Kirk, the health teacher, attended a three day training session for the secondary level this fall. The state has definite guidelines regarding sex education and A.I.D.S. education.

Health is a one semester course required in our junior or senior year. It deals with health, safety, first aid, sex education, and family life.

Students are expected to learn responsibility for their own health. They learn to choose behaviors that will promote good health for themselves and the environment. They also learn how to prevent disease.

One major goal is to develop a "wellness approach" to life. This includes all areas of life, their relationships, and effects on one another. Students are encouraged to set goals and use self-discipline to reach those goals.



Ben Gibbs prepares to do toe raisers for his assigned weight in Weight Lifting class.

One on one learning

Chapter I is a federally funded program that pays for extra educational services for students. The students who want or need help reading and writing for their content area classes are eligible. The content area classes, for example, might be English, History, or Science. It is used to supplement classroom instructions. Students may be referred by a teacher or may see a counselor or a Chapter I staff member to ask for tutoring help. Both pre-test and post-test are given to students.

Chapter I has been available for approximately ten years, but the structure of the program has changed during the last two years. Last year there was a reading lab class for only one hour of the day. This year the lab has been open every hour of the day. The high school coordinator is Mrs. Donna Hieftje and the teaching aides are Miss. Vanessa Pierce and Mrs. Jolene Minor. This class has helped a number of students achieve better grades, so consequently they pass their classes.QLX

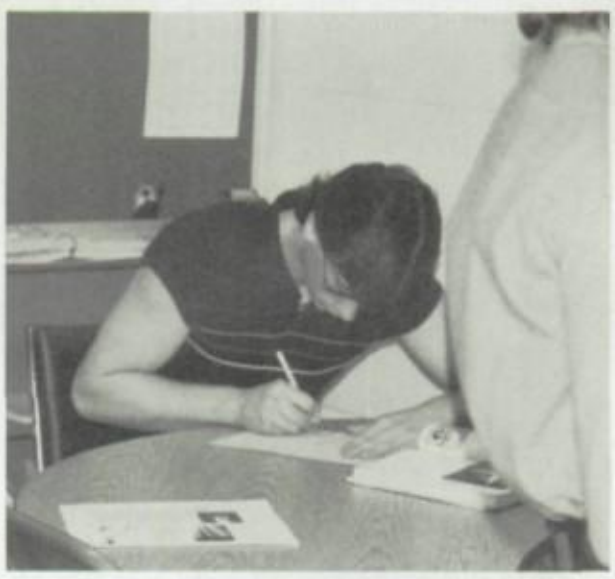
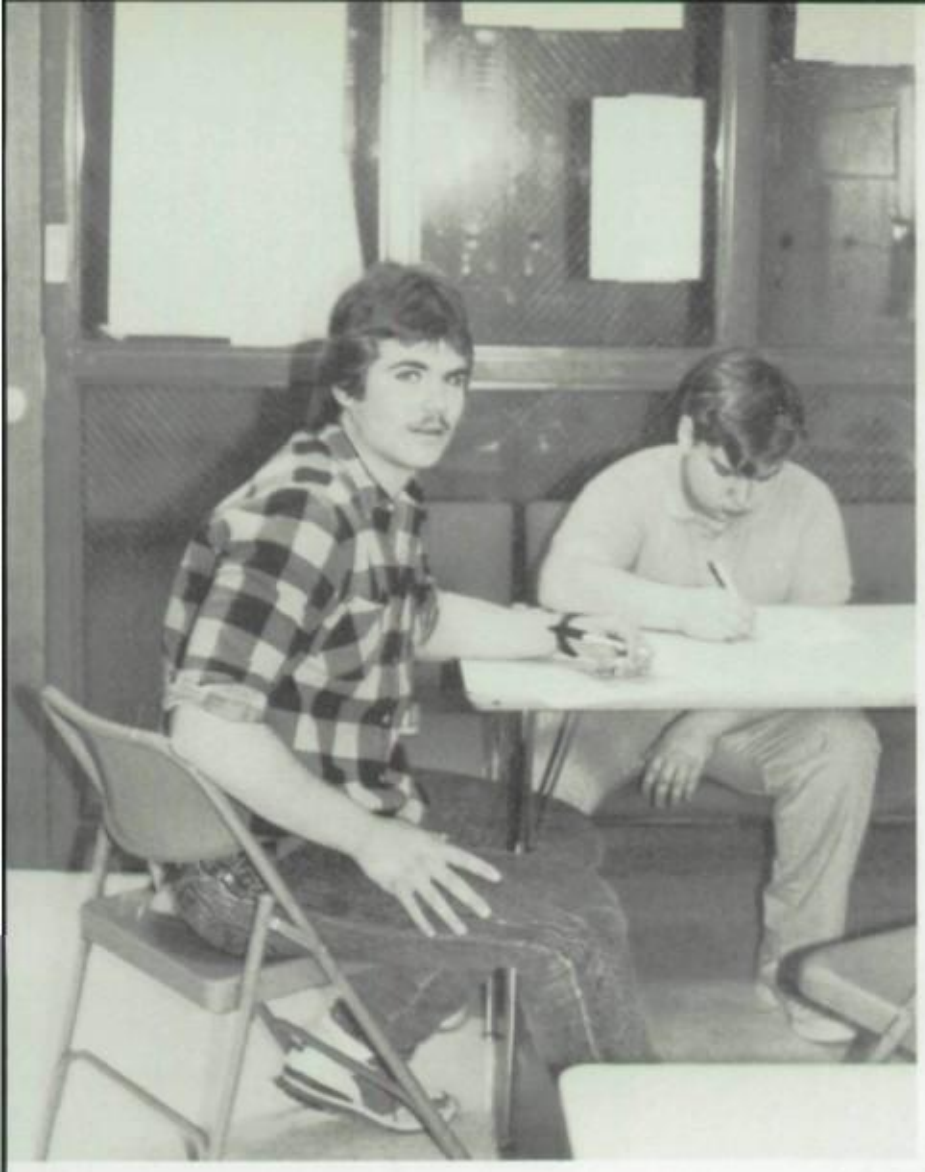
Chapter I takes teamwork, here Miss. Vanessa Pierce, Mrs. Jolene Minor, both aides, and coordinator Mrs. Donna Hieftje, show us how its done.

Rob Glover uses the computer which reinforces classroom materials.

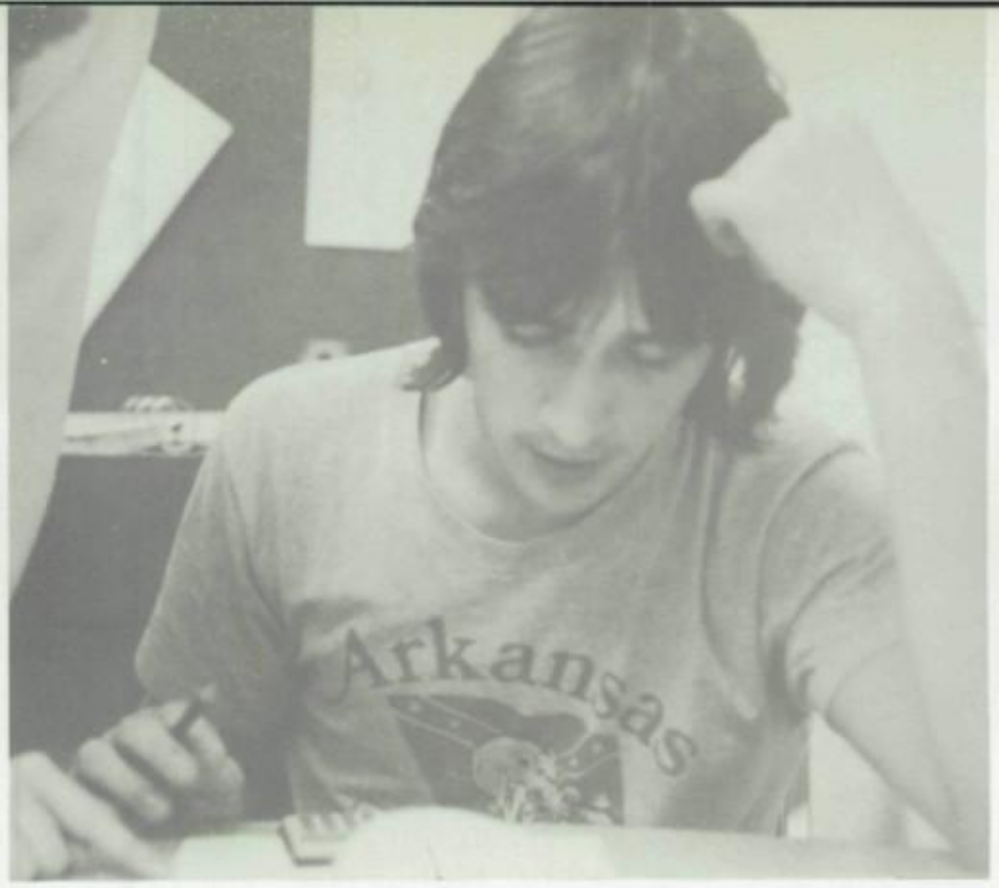
With books spread out in front of her, Ms. Vanessa Pierce begins preparations.



Student, Randy Sayers, gains self-confidence through cooperative learning situations.

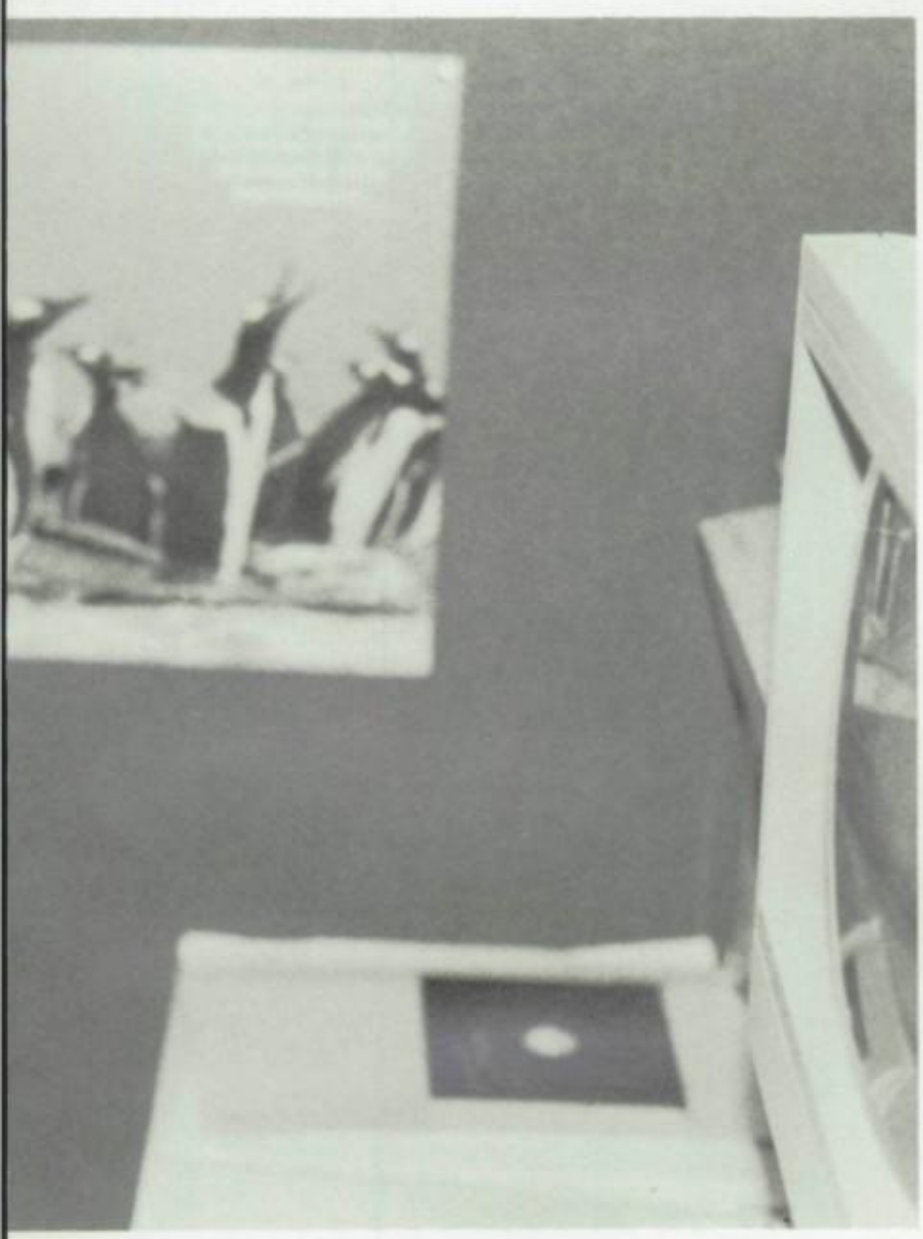


James Posvistak and Charles Schubert work together to gain better study skills.



Looking a little confused is Jeremy Jordan as he trys to figure out a math problem.

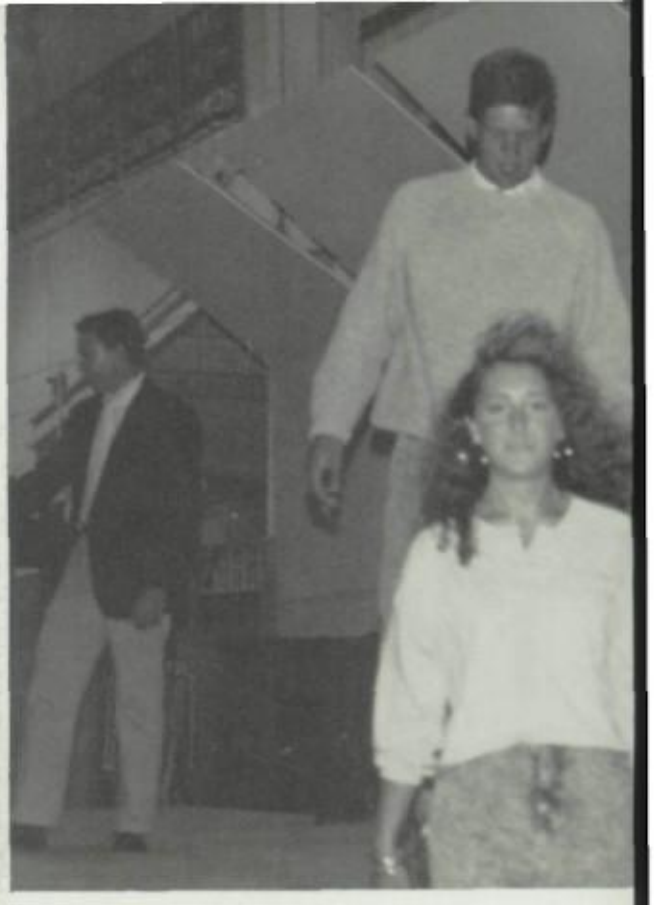
Brian VanderMey works with the computer to get a little extra help when needed.



Don Puente recieves individual instruction on class material and study skills by Mrs. Jolene Minor.

Hard work pays off . . .

Informally dressed, the Senior class attends the Honors assembly.



Cheryl Barecki and Matt Becker return to their seats after receiving recgonition at the Honors assembly. Matt is the representative for Boy's State and Cheryl is the representative for Girl's State.

Mr. VanDuinen congratulates Scott Cargill with a handshake and a certificate for receiving the Algebra II award.

Alyssa Plummer received a $50.00 scholarship from the athletic boosters to use at a summer camp. Mr. Law presented it to her on behalf of the athletic boosters.

Buzz Nichols leaves the stage with the best actor award in hand. The best actress award went to Anna Minor, while Brent Alexander received best supporting actor and Margaret Wahl received best supporting actress.

Garret Waller receiving the Student of the Year Award from Mr. Alexander.

Jill Fox, Char Nichols and Heather Kamrowski accept the Biology and Chemistry awards from Mr. Brimmer.

in the form of awards

The 1988 Quiz Bowl team was made up of junior Jason Bobier, sophomore Jeremy Shoemaker, senior Tim Westman, and junior Tim Hayes. Their coach was Mr. Larry Gerould. The team drew a bye in the first round, was defeated in the second round, beat Brethren in the third round and was defeated and eliminated in the fourth round by M.C.C.

Mr. Gerould presents Jennifer Dykstra, Tim Aebig, Kari Greiner, Ben Kelsey, Buzz Nichols, Brandon Nelson, Jeremy Shoemaker, and Melisa Stoudt with the awards for receiving 100% on the Michigan Educational Assessments for 10th grade.

Laura Scheerer, Judi Near, Tricia Eilers, and Chris Sullivan presented a "principal" certificate and flowers to Mr. Iauch. This was to commemorate his retirement from education from the student body. The student body then gave Mr. Iauch a standing ovation.

Keri Greiner and Cindy Rangel are in deep thought as they contemplate their art projects.

Kisty Rynbrandt, Patty Wyns, and Cheryl Markiewicz pause a moment to pose as they stand at their lockers between classes.

Craig Alexander and Dawn Beckman were involved in a conversation before Jamie Beckman looked toward the photographer and interrupted their train of thought.

A final comment

After 30 good years Mr. lauch has decided to retire. Some changes he has been through at Shelby are expanding the athletic program and making the academic program stronger. He advises the students, "Don't fight it, just get all the learning you can and use it." Mr. lauch doesn't have any regrets on becoming a principal and he would do it again if he had the chance. Mr. lauch will be a great loss to the faculty, community and students. He will be missed by all. Good luck with your future plans!!

Introducing . . .

Mr. Boonstra is a high school graduate of Spring Lake, and a college graduate of Western Michigan Universtiy. He is currently teaching in the Resource room-Special Education. He enjoys working with the kids and plans to stay for three to five years. His future plans are more education and to get his Master's Degree in Special Education or Education Administration.

Miss Linda Hendershott is a high school graduate from Western and a college graduate from Central Michigan University. She lived in Jackson, Mi. before moving to Shelby. She spent time substituting before she got a job here as a full time librarian. In her spare time she likes to teach gymnastics and go shopping. She is currently assistant track coach for girl's track at Shelby.

Miss Janet Granger is a graduate of Shelby High School and attended Central Michigan University for two years. She moved to Chicago for two and a half years and worked in retail. She is currently secretary to the athletic director here. She likes to shop and travel a lot, and also enjoys skiing when she has free time.

Riding along with our faculty

Mr. MacDougall looks official in his uniform and shades as he heads out to take a tour group to see the sights. The group sits back and relaxes, while he does all the driving. This was Mr. MacDougall's first year as a driver for Mac Woods and he is planning on working for them again next year. Even though he was a first year driver he fit right in with the staff and the tourists.

Mr. Brimmer, Mr. MacDougall, and Mr. Lehman were all co-workers last summer at Mac Woods. They all shared the same hours, which were forty-two hours a week. Mr. Lehman, as well as Mr. Brimmer and Mr. MacDougall, worked from eight a.m. until 10 p.m., three days a week. Mr. Lehman says, "The only bad part of the job was the blowing sand, but other than that it was alot of fun and you get to meet a lot of interesting people." Mr. Lehman also plans to work there again during the summer of '88. We wish them all another fun year!

Mr. Brimmer smiles pretty as he enjoys the summer sun. Mr. Brimmer is not a newcomer to Mac Woods as he has worked there for ten years and still plans to work there again next year. Mr. Brimmer has met a lot of people at this job. He always seems to make the people he works with and the people he meets smile just a little. Mr. Brimmer admits to getting mooned a few times while on the job, which is an unusual occurrence, or is it?

A Tribute to the Seniors

"Without life, love cannot be experienced. Without love life is not worth experiencing." At Shelby High School we have experienced life and love. Family and friends have made a full page of memories. Come with us now and remember the memories we have shared together.

The class of 1988 entered the high school for the first time in the fall of 1984. Our freshman class officers were Julie Clark, president; Mark Anderson, vice-president; Anh Duong, secretary; and Kisty Rynbrandt, treasurer. Our first homecoming was very special with Julie Clark and Aaron Gowell representing us as the Prince and Princess. At the Mistletoe dance that year, Tony DeRooy and Chris Sullivan represented us. One of the highlights of the year was selecting our class rings.

As Sophomores more and more driver's licenses began to appear. Our class officers this year were Dean Scheerer, president; Tim Westman, vice-president; Kisty Rynbrandt, secretary; and Jerry Richards, treasurer. Mike Peterson and Heather Burchfield were the representatives for homecoming festivities. At the Mistletoe dance Mike Peterson and Kisty Rynbrandt were announced as the king and queen. Our Sophomore year went by very swiftly. It is hard to believe in two more years we will be going our separate ways.

Our Junior year was filled with excitement and many new adventures. During homecoming this year, we had a bon fire in the school parking lot followed by a snake dance through the downtown area. Mike Peterson and Judi Near represented our class as the royalty at the homecoming dance and game. One of the highlights of the year was Gary Burmeister, Michelle Fodrocy, and Cheryl Markiewicz, all Juniors, winning the top three places in the National Honor Society Spelling Bee.

Finally our Senior year! We entered in the fall of 1987 full of anticipation and trepidation. Heather Burchfield and Mark Kempker were voted the king and queen of homecoming. We had a great football season. Colleges were chosen and careers decided. Our class colors were lavender and silver, our flower was a white rose tipped in lavender and our class song was "Born to be Wild" by Steppenwolf. Our motto was "Fear not the future, enjoy the present". Class officers were Todd Fox, president; Erik Thies, vice-president; Cheryl Markewicz, secretary and Nick Nelson, treasurer. We know not what the future holds, but with the support we have recieved thus far, we will succeed in the future.

The class officers are: Cheryl Markiewicz, secretary; Nick Nelson, treasurer; Erik Thies, vice-president; and Todd Fox, president.

New friends are made.

Gabriela Rieman and Gary Burmeister dress up during homecoming week's turn around day. A day set aside to dress the opposite of what you normally would. Gabriela is this year's exchange student from Germany. She enjoys eating nachos. She hopes to recieve her Michigan driver's license and transfer after she gets home. She feels as though there is not a big diffrence between her home and the U.S. With the help of many students, Gabriela has found new friends and made many memories.

Purchased by the cooks at the slave auction, Nick Nelson, National Honor Society member, must then be at the beck and call of the cooks for the day. He does end up helping in the kitchen for the day. But how much help he was and whether they got their money's worth is anybody's guess.

Mike's Bike.

Mike Motchek started riding bikes at the age of eight when he received a Yamaha 60cc for Christmas. Mike has owned a bike continuously since then. Two years ago, he joined AMA (American Motorcyclist Association). He tried his first hare scramble and placed 3rd, after that he went to every race, placing in the top four each time. The races are three hours long on a three to six mile long track, running you through anything they want to. The race tracks are all over Michigan and some in Ohio. The tracks are mostly alot of tight woods and through creeks and ponds, farmers fields, and on some motocross tracks, there are always jumps and bumps. He has never been on a smooth track. Mike has raced on a Yamaha 250 YZ. He has had three bikes in the two years he has raced. Mike says the races take a lot out of him, but his parents are very supportive of his hobby and they have made it their hobby, also. He also adds that you have to be very devoted to stay in this sport or it will never pay off.

Champion Aaron Gowell

Aaron Gowell had many accomplishments throughout high school, including his state championship in shotput and discus two years in a row. He was voted three times most valuable athlete for track. U.S.A magazine named him second best underclassman heavyweight wrestler. In his sophmore year Aaron was honored as A.A.U. Junior Olympic national champion in discus. Aaron was a member of the National Honor Society for two years. He is the Scholarship Chairperson. Aaron plans to go to college to pursue studies in engineering or sports medicine and participate in college sports. Aaron has many outside school interests like fishing, hunting, motorcycle riding, and target shooting. Good luck, Aaron.

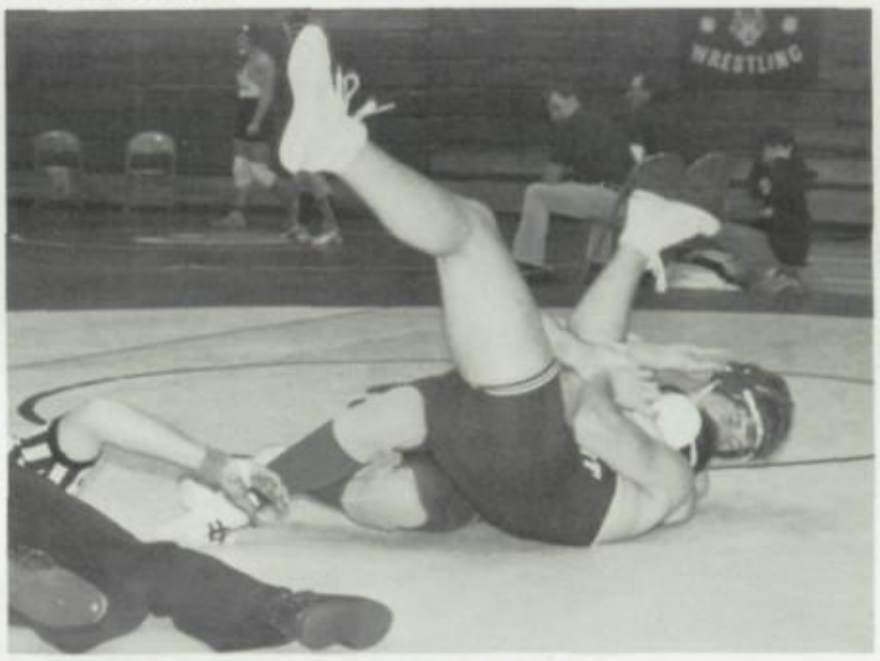
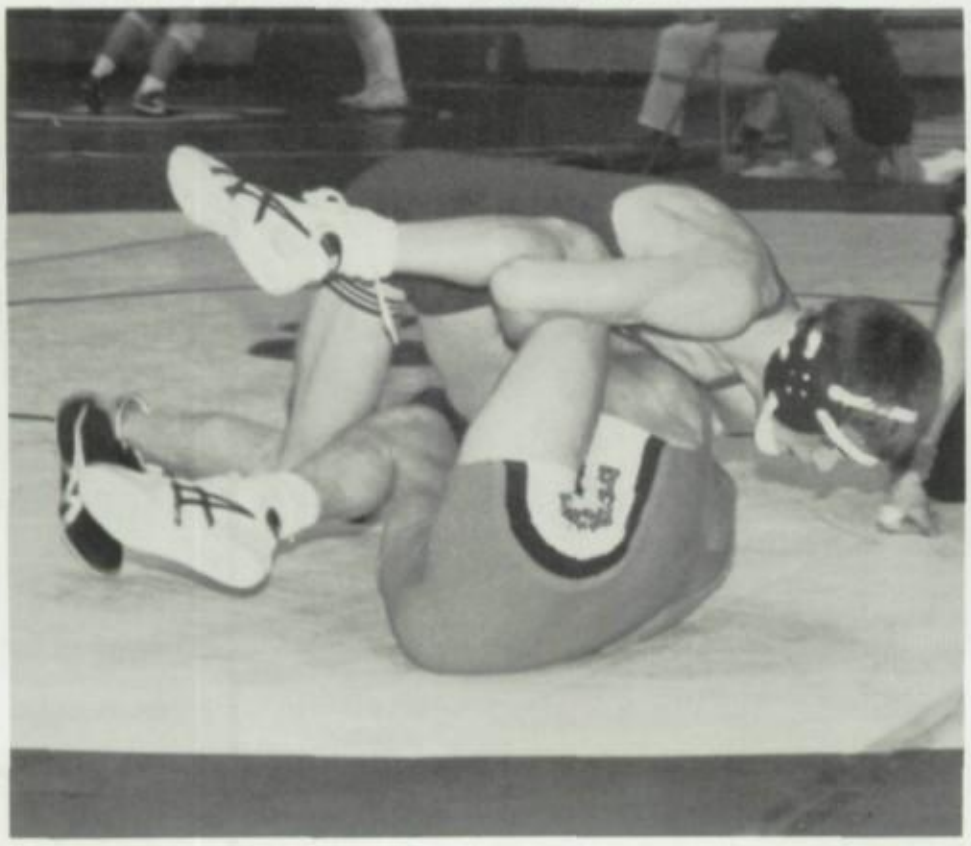
The Shelby Tiger wrestling team had a excellent season. They finished the season undeafeted in the conference. Their closest match was against Hart when they tied. The wrestling team took 1st. in the Ravenna and the Shepard tournaments. They had two all-state wrestlers. Mark Kempker taking a first and Ed Felt taking a second in the state meet. Dan Jackson and Mike Jackson made it to the state meet, but did not place. Ernie Flores and Matt Becker made it to regionals. The Shelby wrestling team took first in the conference, districts, and regionals.



Ed Felt moves into a cradle. He pins his guy, helping to win the meet.



Mike Schnotala puts his man in a cradle. Mike pins his man for a a good six points.

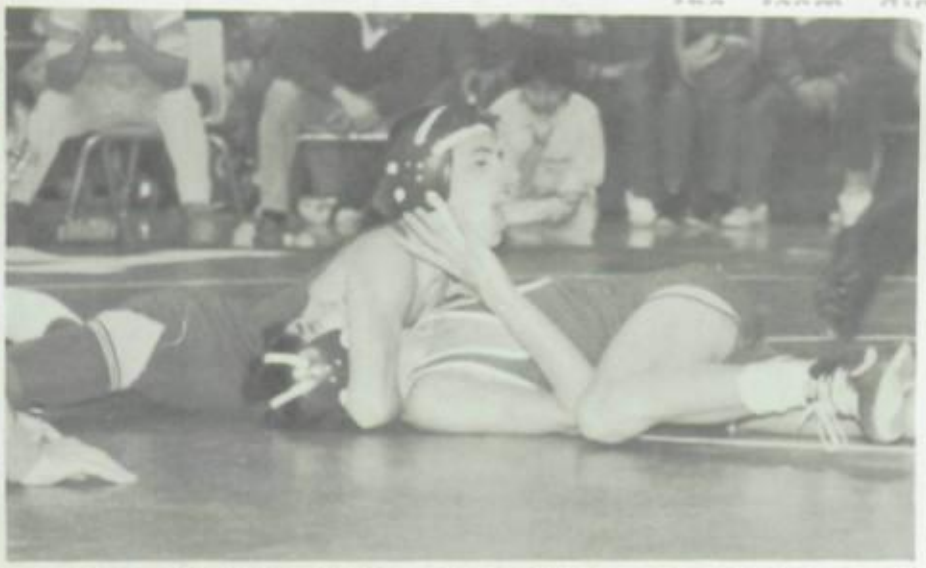
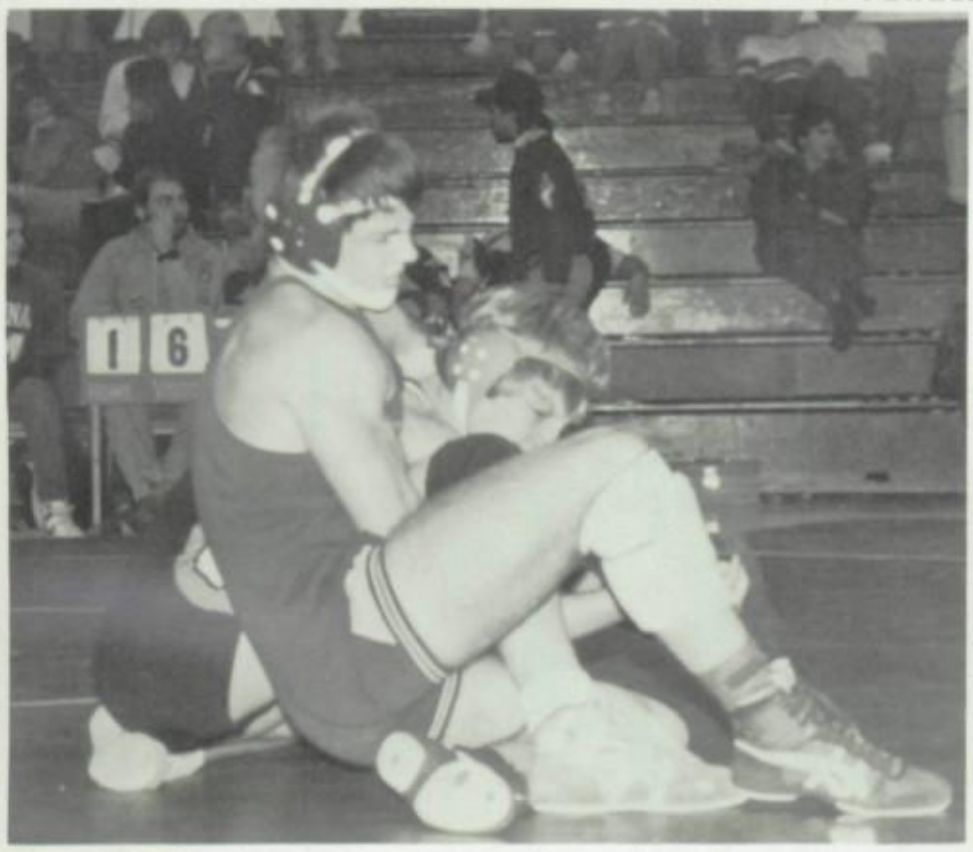
Mark Kempker — "The Most memorable moment of the season for me was winning the state championship."



Ernie Flores puts his opponent in a half nelson to win the match by a pin.

Matt Becker squeezes tight to try to pin his man.



Mike Jackson puts his man in a cradle to pin him.

Melanie Flores — "My best memory of the season is Coach Brimmer. He makes our hard work fun. It doesn't even seem like work when he coaches us. The game that was memorable was beating Hart 28-2."

Tim Parker, as a co-op student works hard at Tanner and Stark in Shelby, trying to earn a few extra dollars.

Michele Jewett works in the library at the high school. She is responsible for determining who is late in returning their library books. She also returns books to proper places on shelves and any other duties requested of her.

Mandi Garboske, another co-op student works hard at the Oceana Canning Company doing some figures on the computer.

Robbie Porter has a job at Country Custom Meats. He helps cut meats for the customers as they request. He really looks excited about cutting the meat, doesn't he?

Denim Days

Throughout this year the fashion has been denim. Anything made of this kind of fabric is great. Everytime you look around you see denim jeans, denim shirts, denim skirts, denim jackets, denim boots, denim socks, denim purses, and denim wallets. If denim isn't plain it's frosted, stone-washed, or colored denim. If you can't afford jeans of this type, you can create your own jeans by soaking them in bleach. The cost of a typical pair of frosted, stone-washed, or colored jeans is $40.00. There are other things the students seem to really like: t-shirts from concerts, bermuda shorts, high top sneakers from L.A. Gear, Nike, or Reebok to name a few. Girls like to wear large hoop earrings and banana combs. Both guys and girls wear about anything that is comfortable.

Talk about a chick decked out in denim. Teresa Creed looks ready to go anywhere with her attire.

Chris Tietz, Ernie Flores, Michelle Jewett, and Kristie Parker are a friendly group of seniors that just happened to be wearing denim.

Sherri Satterlee, Tony DeRooy, Venessa Lopez, Tim Hayes, and Kathy Smith are showing off the styles of clothing that they wear in the 80's in a friendly social gathering.

Tracie Borgeson looks pretty good with her frosted mini skirt as she gets ready for class.

Stephanie Burrinton, Dawn Beckman, Eric Richards, and Vince Van Duinen look relaxed with their casual jeans, while looking at the 1987-88 yearbook.

Get a load of these frosted boots. Can you guess who they belong to? Maybe if you ask Heather Burchfield she might tell you.

Screaming Demons

The cars of the 80's are mostly nicer cars than cars that students used to drive to school. Guys still rebuild cars to make them out to be hotrods. A car to a student is a major thing, because they can get around without their parents and have their freedom. A new car or truck usually cost about $13,000 plus the other necessities like an air conditioner, a good stereo, all the other luxuries. A good used car usually costs in the range of $4,000 to $6,000. It seems like everyone in high school who has a license drives.

Tom Wyns and Jeff Furman just stopped to show us their cute smiles and POWER WAGON.

Rob Neuman is leaving school at the end of a day with his brother in his new red truck.

Larry Keeler is on his way to who knows where, and doesn't have a care in the world.

Neil Hammerle and his chevy tough truck. Neil's truck looks really awesome with his roll bars and his K.C. lights, and its all his.

Look! It's Kelly Slocum by her brand new Ford Escort. Isn't it cute?

Check out all the dangling toys in this white Dodge, that belongs to Cheryl Markiewicz.

Mike VanDuinen and his Renult Alliance that he has had for a couple of years; With him is Garret Waller and Melisa Stoudt.

It's Connie Jimison with her big Chrysler Cordoba given to her by her parents as an early graduation present.

Congratulations, To The Class Of '88

Letting go means

With bags on their heads Erik Thies, Greg Law, Michele Jewett, Char Wilson, Mark Anderson, and Mike VanDuinen show that friends can let go and be crazy. Rob Neuman got so crazy, he couldn't keep the bag on his head.

Diana Crudele and Kirk Stuberg think sometimes its just fun to have your picture taken with a friend.

saying Good-Bye . . .

Larry Keeler shows being a senior doesn't mean letting go of some of your childish ways.

Scott Miller and Anna Minor just can't let go of their friendship.

Scott Peterson and Chris McKinnon's friendship will never let go.

The Senior class form the year they are so happy finally arrived. Now they will move on in life. Best of luck to you Class of 1988.

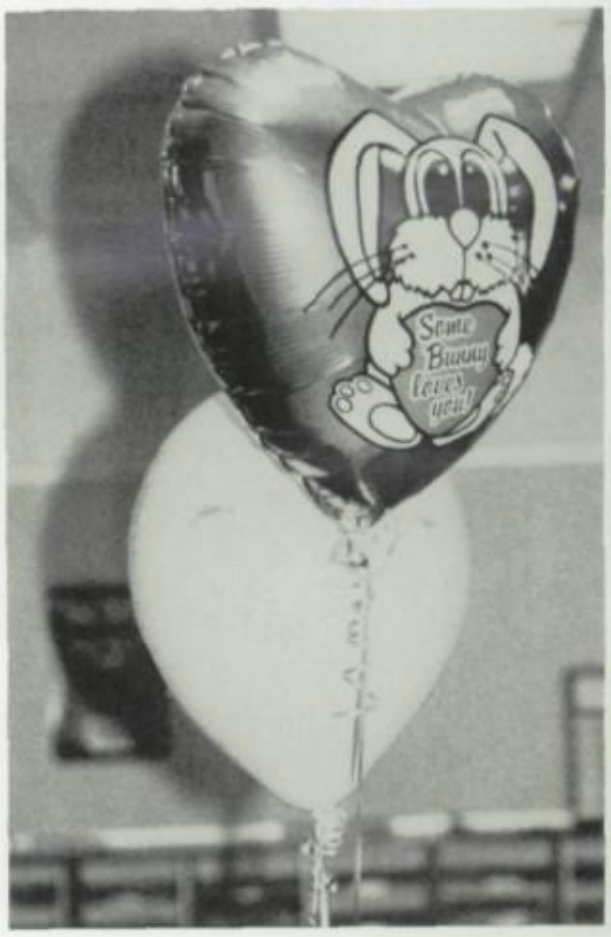
The 1987-88 school year has now come to an end. The class of 1988 have taken their final exams and have now graduated. The Seniors excitement about getting their announcements and their caps and gowns and graduating is all over. It is a year in their life time that they will never forget. After thirteen years of attending school for some it is all over, a time they may look back on as being the happiest in their life. A lot of Seniors are now going to college, some are working, and some are in the military. The Juniors have now replaced them as Seniors. Each of the respective classes have moved up a notch. Everyone is doing something different now and as for the seniors that has meant letting go of their place at Shelby High School, the home of the Tigers.



Kristy
Is a great person.
Good luck in the future and have fun with cheerleading. ☆
Hope you do really good.
Hope we stay friends always.

Dearest Mary,

I do pray that you are well. Yesterday I received your letter and was very pleased to hear from you. I am sorry to hear that you have been unwell but glad that you are now better.

Yours truly,

Kristi,

Boy, what an awful starting year, huh? I'm so glad I got to know you really good and glad ~~if~~ you became a cheerleader. Hope we can cheer together all rest our years Good Luck with the guys and good luck in school. Our graduating year will be great.
